ABSTRACT

This directory is a selected list of environment-oriented groups, including national organizations, regional and State councils and membership groups (arranged by State). Most of them distribute environmental or conservation information and publish periodical newsletters or magazines, informative pamphlets, and action guidebooks. Also included are a few groups which, although not primarily environment-oriented, pursue strong and continuing environmental programs. Each of the 83 entries includes official name of the group and its address. (BL)

ENVIRONMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS

Introduction

The following is a selected list of environment-oriented groups, including national organizations, regional and State councils and membership groups (arranged by State). Most of them distribute environmental or conservation information and publish periodical newsletters or magazines, informative pamphlets and action guidebooks.

Also included are a few groups which, although not primarily environment-oriented, pursue strong and continuing environmental programs.

The national organizations listed maintain local and regional groups, the addresses of which can be obtained from the national office.

Many State-wide and regional organizations also consist of a number of individual citizen groups whose addresses can be obtained from the central office.

Organizations which deal mainly with preservation of fish and wildlife and outdoor recreation have been omitted.
